

Summarised Friday Sermon

16th June 2006

An Exemplary Ummah

- The sermon begins with a reminder to maintain our taqwa to Allah by doing all that He commands and avoiding all that He forbids. And Insya Allah, we will become the best of ummah
- Allah mentions in the Quran that Muslims are the best community that Allah has created that believe in Allah, invite others to do all the good deeds, stopping and avoiding one self and others from doing bad things.
- Our Prophet s.a.w was born in a Jahilliah society, did not let himself to be influenced. He became a leader that led his society to righteousness
- Muslim should not participate in mungkar entertainment and party in public places without feeling shy by doing so in the name of entertainment.
- If we Muslims do not lead and are not being followed by others in doing good deeds and promoting universal values, but only being followers, sooner or later we Muslims will be part of the society that we are following
- As muslims, we must always strive very hard to achieve excellence in every field that we are doing as Prophet Muhammad s.a.w. has said: "I have been sent to complete the best of akhlak."
- In our relationship with other races, Muslims must always be kind to neighbours, friends, and colleagues. We must be gentle and show kindness to them
- In summary, every Muslim must be a role model, a qudwah hasanah. Hopefully through this, it will create a healthy environment for our families and later for our society.
