

Summarised Friday Sermon

3 APRIL 2009

A GOOD MUSLIM WILL ALWAYS MAKE CONTRIBUTIONS

- The spirit of competing to do good and contributing is part of our Muslim identity.
- The Prophet S.A.W encouraged this noble deed, to the extent that he asked of us to contribute when we are in hardship.
- The spirit of doing good and contributing to others are not restricted to the financial realm. In fact, we can contribute our skills and experience to uplift our community.
- A good Muslim will not let any opportunity to do good slip past him. For example, in our current economic climate, we can optimise all opportunities that were hard to come by previously.
- InshaAllah, when we contribute and offer our help, we will be closer towards the mission of becoming the best ummah that always strive towards goodness, Amiin.
