OUR ROLE as MUSLIMS in SINGAPORE

- We live in a country which adopts a neutral stand towards all religions. This means that although the majority of Singaporeans are followers of other religions, no one can impose any religion or religious belief to others in the common space that we all share.
- Today, allow me to suggest two ways in which we can all play a part to portray the true teachings of Islam.
- First, we should create a positive effect on others by embracing the values of peace, justice and kindness.
- The second way is for us to collectively build a civilised society which is imbued with high morals. To achieve this objective, we need to understand others, their traditions and also values.
- InshaAllah, may Allah s.w.t. increase His blessings to our country, when we all try to further strengthen our taqwa by way of doing more good and striving to become blessings to all, Amin Ya Rabbal 'Alamin.
