

Summarised Friday Sermon

9 MAY 2008

THE OBJECTIVES OF THE SYARIAH IN MAINTAINING RELATIONS BETWEEN HUMANKIND

- Our good relationship with others reflect the beauty of our iman and faith and is part of our Islamic identity. For this reason, Islam strongly emphasises on good moral behaviour and proper ethical conduct in the life of a Muslim.
- Good relations among humankind is very important in Islam. Islam has identified several objectives of the Syariah in this regard. This week, we will discuss two (2) of these objectives.
- The First Objective: The Syariah seeks to build a strong and united ummah. Muslims must therefore be able to identify these core areas that will strengthen the institution of the ummah, and to always remain united through these areas. Examples are areas relating to the aqidah and Islamic faith, Islamic principles and values.
- The Second Objective of the Syariah is to establish justice at all levels. In Islam, justice begins with oneself. That means one has to be just to his God, then to himself and his family.
- InshaAllah, if we can strengthen the institution of the ummah and we are wise in dealing with differences, and if we always act fairly at all places and times, we will be able to lead a successful religious life that will bring about success for us both in this world and in the akhirah. Amin.

Summarized By: Darul Makmur Mosque
Mosque without borders