

Summarised Friday Sermon

26 December 2008M / 28 Zulhijjah 1429H

Retrospection of The Community and Ummah

- We are currently in the end of the year. May this ending result in a blessed and excellent transition for our ummah and community. Let us strive and make a resolution to become a better mukmin.
- Hijrah represents a new beginning, it also represents sacrifice. Hijrah reminds us that each and every change requires sacrifice. And with each strive to change; it will bear rewarding result with assistance from Allah s.w.t.
- Let us evaluate and be critical towards ourselves. This would enable us to measure whether we had exerted our efforts enough and are closer to these goals set by Allah s.w.t ., or are we far from achieving them.
- Let us make an effort to improve our family institution. Guide our family with a great sense of responsibility. Love and care for them sincerely. Let us work towards improving the family institution. Embellish it with education and Iman.
- Let us evaluate our commitment as a community towards education which means contributing towards knowledge advancement globally.
- Allah will truly assist those who sincerely devote to Him. We will always strive to improve ourselves and our community. May this new Hijrah year encourage us to become an excellent ummah and community in this life and the hereafter. Amin Ya Rabbal 'Aalamin.
