Actualizing the Value of Ihsan

- One of the very clear examples of Rasulullah's life is his level of ihsan, his kindness, as well as his reminders to us to assist those in need.
- If someone was rewarded by Allah S.W.T. for doing a simple act of ihsan (kindness) towards an animal which is thirsty, imagine the rewards for a kind act towards fellow human beings.
- This is the kind of rahmah and blessing that Allah S.W.T. has bestowed upon the ummah of Prophet Muhammad S.A.W. Every act of kindness and ihsan will be justly rewarded
- Are we aware that last year, there were only 87 pledgers from our community? This is when the number of Muslim patients, who are in need of a transplant, especially kidney patients, is the highest when compared to other communities. The number of pledgers has not gone up substantially. In fact, it is unfortunate that the numbers have gone down.
- We are all proud that Islam is a religion of compassion and ihsan, and that Rasulullah S.A.W. is the Messenger that brings ihsan and blessings to all. Therefore, now is the time for us to actualize these values. This is the time for us to really live up to our Islamic values and answer the call of ihsan towards all.
- Let us help our fellow brothers and sisters to give them another chance to live a normal life, just like all of us in this mosque today. With this kind of help and support, not only will we be giving a new lease of life for the patients, but also for their families
- Let us all strive to shape a community that has the courage to respond to new challenges, wise in finding alternatives and solutions, and willing to always show compassion ihsan. By doing so, may we constantly receive Allah's acceptance and blessings.
