RESILIENT IN THE FACE OF CHALLENGES

- One of the challenges that Muslims face today is the wrong interpretations of the teachings of Islam spread through various means, whether through the internet or elsewhere.
- Some of these interpretations equate Islam with violence and extremism. As Muslims, we reject such interpretations. Such efforts will only serve to ignite hatred and to distort the belief of Muslims.
- Allah s.w.t. guides us to repel bad acts in the best and most honourable manner. The purpose of which is to see for ourselves how the bad transforms into the good and leads to love and good relations between mankind.
- Let us follow the examples of our Holy Prophet s.a.w. when he faced and surmounted challenges. The Prophet s.a.w. always placed love and brotherhood of his ummah above everything else.
- Thus, let us continue to be united, and be sincere (ikhlas) to Allah s.w.t., and to worship Allah fully and humbly, by following the examples of our Holy Prophet s.a.w.
- Hopefully, our resilience will grow stronger as we continue to strive to manifest the teachings of Islam and bring blessings through them.
